During my teaching and work in the last period of time I have become aware that there are many practitioners who have interest to work with special needs children. I have also come to understand that most practitioners do not feel confident enough in their skills and/or understanding to work with special needs children or would like clearer ways to do so.

In this last year I personally have shifted the focus of my teaching and private work into developing material and ways of teaching practitioners how to understand and work in FI with special needs children of all kinds and their families.

The purpose of this advanced training is to introduce practitioners to my way of working with special needs children and to provide skills and understanding for practitioners to begin to work in this direction.

There is a great need at this time for the Feldenkrais Method to come forward.

Jeremy Krauss

About the Trainer

Jeremy Krauss was trained directly by Dr. Feldenkrais and has been studying and teaching the Feldenkrais Method for over 25 years. He is the translator of the Alexander Yanai lessons Volumes 6 – 11 from Hebrew into English. He teaches Training Programs, Advanced Trainings and Masters Classes worldwide.

Jeremy is known for his clear presentation of both the practical and theoretical aspects of the Method.
